Childhood Commission

Investing in quality early childhood development is needed to facilitate the advancement of our nation's children. Highlighting the standards of the sector during 2022, the Year of Early Childhood Development, illustrates the importance of consistent monitoring of the sector. It is without a doubt that the Early Childhood Commission (ECC) recognizes the need to ensure that parents are informed about the standards of education that their children are receiving. That is why the ECC conducts inspections with schools on a frequent basis.

However, we at the ECC, believe in transparency and accountability. Therefore, the Assessment Report of Early Childhood Institutions March 2022 satisfies this demand for transparency as it was produced based on the performance criteria of the ECC's 12 national standards. These standards assess critical areas such as staffing, administration, school infrastructure, health and nutrition. We implore all parents to make an informed choice about the school that best supports their children's cognitive, emotional and physical development.

Commission

The Early Childhood Commission (ECC) aims to facilitate the development of our nation's children island wide. As a part of our strategy to ensure that our children's wellbeing is being taken care of, it is important that parents make an informed decision as to where to send their children. It is for this reason that during the Year of Early Childhood Development, the ECC has published the names and inspections scores of all early childhood institutions across Jamaica.

This Assessment Report of Early Childhood Institutions March 2022 is a historic step towards the development of the sector. These inspection scores assess the overall operational performance of early childhood institutions (ECIs) including the quality of leadership that is offered and the level of stimulation that a child can receive. It is my hope that parents will be guided by this report and take the necessary steps to safeguard their children's welfare.

Introduction

The Early Childhood Commission (ECC) is an agency of the Ministry of Education and Youth. It was established in 2003 by the Early Childhood Commission Act to improve the quality of life for Jamaica's youngest children. The ECC monitors and regulates early childhood institutions (ECIs) through a system of inspection against the 12 national standards. The ECC is the umbrella organization with responsibility for inter sectoral coordination for early childhood development outcomes for children 0 - 8 across the sectors of health, education, development and care as well as child protection.

According to section 3(1) of the Early Childhood Act (2005), "No person shall operate an early childhood institution unless that institution is registered under this Act." As of March 31, 2022, there were 2373 ECIs in operation. Of this amount, 2312 ECIs (97 percent of ECIs) have applied for registration while 61 ECIs are delinquent. The registration compliance rate among ECIs have seen significant improvement within the past year, with overall delinquency moving from 140 ECIs as of February 26, 2021, to 61 ECIs currently. Of that 140 ECIs, 24 were government operated ECIs (infant schools and departments). Currently, only four (4) government operated ECIs are delinquent.

All ECIs are inspected against the 12 national standards using an inspection instrument. An inspection instrument is the tool used to measure the extent to which an ECI complies with the 231 legal performance indicators of the 12 standards. The 12 standards are:

Standard 1: Staffing (16 indicators)

- Objective: The staff at early childhood institutions has the characteristics, training, knowledge, skills, and attitude, to help children achieve their full potential.

Standard 2: Developmental/ Educational programmes (45 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have comprehensive programmes designed to meet the language, physical, cognitive, creative, socio-emotional, spiritual, cultural and school readiness needs of children.

Standard 3: Interactions & Relationships with Children (2 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood staff has the characteristics, training, knowledge, skills and attitude to promote positive behaviours and reduce difficult and challenging behaviours in children.

Standard 4: Physical environment (43 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have physical environments that meet building, health and safety requirements; allow adequate space for children and facilitate the development of children and staff

Standard 5: Indoor and outdoor equipment, furnishing and supplies (21 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have indoor and outdoor equipment and furnishings that are safe, child-friendly and promote optimal development of children.

Standard 6: Health (42 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have physical facilities, policies, programmes and procedures that promote healthy lifestyles and protect children and staff from illness.

Standard 7: Nutrition (9 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions provide children in their care with nutritious meals and model good nutritional practices for children and families.

Standard 8: Safety (12 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions provide safe indoor and outdoor environments for children, staff, stakeholders and visitors to the institution.

Standard 9: Child rights, child protection and equality (5 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions uphold the rights of children, protect them from harm and ensure that all children have equal access to services.

Standard 10: Interactions with parents & community members (4 indicators)

- Objective: The management and staff of early childhood institutions have good relationships with parents, caregivers, family members and the community.

Standard 11: Administration (31 indicators)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have a management structure that ensures good administration. There are plans, policies, procedures and programmes that ensure child, family and staff well-being.

Standard 12: Finance (1 indicator)

- Objective: Early childhood institutions have sound financial practices and adhere to standard accounting principle.

After an ECI is inspected, the outcome of an inspection may result in the ECI being issued a certificate of registration or a permit to operate. An ECI is issued a certificate of registration (certified) after it has been assessed against the 231 legal performance indicators of the 12 standards and have achieved a 100 percent inspection score. This certificate of registration is valued for five years from the date of its issuance. ECIs must reapply for a certificate of registration after this period. As of March 31, 2022, 282 ECIs have received a certificate of registration which represents 11 percent of ECIs operating in the sector.

ECIs may receive a permit to operate which is an interim approval to operate for one year. A permit is granted to an ECI after it is assessed and there are no health and safety risks to children, staff and stakeholders. The ECI is given a time period to achieve the legal requirements that were not met upon inspection. As of March 31, 2022, 2241 ECIs have received a permit to operate which represents 85 percent of ECIs operating in the sector.

The Assessment Report of Early Childhood Institutions March 2022 represents the analysis of inspection scores from the last inspection conducted at the ECI by the ECC. The analysis presents a breakdown of each ECI's inspection score indicating where each is operating in terms of meeting all the legal requirements of the 12 standards (100 percent). ECIs are categorized by regions (Region 1 - 7) which highlight their geographical parish boundaries. The analysis is a useful tool in assisting stakeholders to see where an ECI is operating in terms of the requirement in meeting the 231 legal requirements at the time of the last inspection.

Rationale

The Assessment Report of Early Childhood Institutions March 2022 serves as a guide for stakeholders as it gives an overview for where all ECIs are operating based on their last inspection score. The inspection score is a useful benchmark to inform stakeholders of where the ECI is operating in terms of being certified.

More than 80 percent of ECIs are privately operated and thus, stakeholders can decide which ECI is best suited to meet the needs of their children. Requesting the information from an ECI's last inspection report is a good indicator for parents who desire to make an informed decision as to where the ECI is operating based on the requirements of the standards.

Stakeholders can use the ECC's website to view the list of certified schools and the inspection report of various ECIs. ECIs are NOT assessed based on academic criteria but against the 12 standards which illustrate an ECI's overall operational performance.

The early childhood sector in Jamaica is supported by a number of stakeholders who work assiduously to ensure that ECIs are providing high quality early childhood education. This report is useful for partners who may want more information about an ECI to invest in.

The inspection score is a useful benchmark that should be used in conjunction with an ECI's needs assessment. These two documents will guide partners with what is needed for an ECI to be certified. Prospective partners are encouraged to contact the Early Childhood Commission for more information.

Methodology

Overview of Inspection Scores

Each ECI inspection score is determined by compiling the number of the 231 legal criteria achieved.

1. ECIs with 100 percent Inspection Score

- Achieving 100 percent of the standards means that an ECI is certified. This represents the gold standard of early childhood education and all ECIs should aim to achieve certification. ECIs that are certified have demonstrated that they are providing the best quality service that can be offered in the sector.

2. ECIs with 85 - 99 percent Inspection Score

- ECIs with inspection scores between the range of 85 - 99 percent are very close to achieving the standards. ECIs within this range are most likely to be supported for certification from the ECC and other partners.

3. ECIs with 70 - 84 percent Inspection Score

- ECIs with an inspection score between the range of 70 - 84 percent are close to achieving the standards. Stakeholders can work along with these ECIs to give them support and assistance to be certified.

4. ECIs with 50 - 69 Percent Inspection Score

- ECIs with an inspection score of 50 - 69 percent fall within mid-range of the standards. ECIs within this range would need substantial support from stakeholders to be certified.

5. ECIs with Inspection Score Below 50 Percent

- ECIs with an inspection score below 50 percent fall below the mid-range of the standards. These schools would need significant support from stakeholders to be certified.

6. Delinquent Early Childhood Institution

- ECIs that are delinquent have not applied for registration and are in violation of the Early Childhood Act (2005). Given that these schools have not been registered, inspection scores for these institutions cannot be provided. The ECC does not recommend parents to send their children to delinquent ECIs.

Disclaimer

Please be advised that this report aims to be a quantitative analysis of all early childhood institutions that have submitted an application for registration with the ECC as of March 31, 2022. Due to the COVID-19 pandemic, the ECC was not able to assess some ECIs. Thus, these schools have been listed as 'not inspected'. This is not an indictment of the school's capacity and adherence to the 12 standards. Some institutions inspected before the pandemic may have also seen changes to their inspection scores during the intervening time period. In instances like these, the most recent inspection report done in the years 2018 - 2020 was used along with current scores conducted up to March 2022.

Recommendations

In light of the report's findings, the following recommendations are being made to all stakeholders that support the certification process of ECIs.

Certified Early Childhood Institutions

For ECIs that have achieved certification (100% Inspection Score), it is important that the standards of service currently being provided is maintained. A certificate of registration is valued for a five-year period. However, ECIs should take specific care to ensure that during that time, all the requirements for meeting the standard are maintained in order not to lose their certification within that five-year period.

Uncertified Early Childhood Institutions

ECIs that have not been certified are encouraged to use their development plan to chart their path towards certification. The ECC officers are willing and able to work closely with an ECI to ensure that these institutions are certified.

Areas for Strengthening ECI Operation

Partnerships with Private Sector Groups and NGOs

Private sector groups and NGOs that are interested in investing in ECIs should be guided by the inspection scores of the institution and their needs assessment. Physical infrastructure and the provision of equipment have been identified as the greatest needs of ECIs. These include fencing, water tanks, furnishing bathrooms, electronic devices and playground equipment. The ECC can provide a list of needs for each inspected ECI which can be used to guide the decisions of interested groups.

Community

ECI leadership can leverage support among community stakeholders to support them in achieving the standards. Institutions can seek assistance from the community after they have identified the standard(s) where there is greatest need(s).

Ministry of Education and Youth

As the Ministry of Education and Youth aims to channel more resources to the sector, it is essential that the inspection report should be used as the guiding tool to determine where improvements should be made for achieving the standards. The analysis of the Assessment Report of Early Childhood Institutions highlights that a number of government-operated ECIs fall below the mid-range of the standards.

Public ECIs are the flagship institutions of the MOEY. Thus, vigilance is needed to ensure that the leadership of these institutions are purposeful about achieving and maintaining the certification status of public ECIs.

It is also recommended that the MOEY increase the current funding available to early childhood practitioners for the annual document renewal initiative. Additional funding is needed to support the practitioners for the annual renewal of police records, food handlers permits and medicals.

Funding should be expanded to the ECC in order to increase the ratio of field officers for greater support to ECIs. The ideal ratio to establish is one (1) field officer to 30 ECIs (1:30) and one (1) community relations officer per parish.

Inter-Agency Collaboration

Based on the requirements for ECIs to obtain the requisite documents to meet the standards, there is need for greater collaboration among the municipal corporation of each parish, the Ministry of Health and Wellness, the Jamaica Constabulary Force and the Jamaica Fire Brigade. It has been observed that ECIs experience major delays with acquiring documents from these organizations including public health certificates, food handler's permits, police records and fire safety certificates. The ECC recommends that these public bodies should fast track the processing of these documents for ECIs. This is in order to ensure that long delays are minimized as these documents are only valid for one (1) year.
